

Emerging Leaders Network

Registration and Endorsement Form

The Emerging Leaders Network (ELN) is a peer-led and collaborative group supported by the Canadian Council for International Co-operation (CCIC). The ELN provides space and opportunity for young professionals from Canada's international development and humanitarian assistance sector to foster new and innovative ideas, and to contribute to and shape Canada's policy agenda. Emerging Leaders can participate in and contribute to the Network's self-directed activities throughout the year and attend the CCIC Annual Conference as an ELN representative.

To be eligible to join this network, individuals must:

- Be employed by a CCIC member organization at the time of nomination to the network;
- Be dedicated to the field of international development and humanitarian assistance and to civil society engagement more broadly;
- Self-identify as part of the next generation of sector leaders;
- Demonstrate interest in continued learning, critical analysis and collaborative work; and
- Receive official endorsement from their respective organizations (wherever possible at the Executive Director level; please see form below)

To be a part of this network, Emerging Leaders are expected to:

- Join at least one committee, or conduct one activity per year, and
- Attend at least three of the bi-monthly ELN calls.

Membership terms of two to three years are suggested, and ELN Members will be asked to confirm their continued membership annually.

\ Please note that a CCIC member organization may have more than one staff member on the ELN at one time. There is no limit.*

Individuals interested in joining or renewing their membership with the ELN must read the accompanying ELN Overview document and complete this form. Please share the ELN Overview document with your supervisor and colleagues.
